

Arcoro's safety & compliance package combines all the resources you need to safeguard your workforce and your business

From training and certifications to tailgate talks and on-demand legal advice, our solution makes meeting construction workforce safety requirements easier

Safety is a business imperative for construction and contracting. Running afoul of safety rules and regulations can result in significant financial costs...even if no one gets hurt. And if someone is injured on the job, lost time, workers' comp and medical care costs hit your bottom line.

The hidden costs of not investing in safety could be far greater. No one wants an employee to get hurt. And jobsite accidents are bad for business in many ways from negative PR to poor worker morale and turnover. Companies that don't demonstrate a strong commitment to the safety of their workers may lose out when recruiting and retaining scarce talent.

Managing the delivery and tracking of formal and in-the-field training isn't easy. It becomes even more complex when you use separate systems for safety management and documentation.

An integrated, streamlined approach to managing a construction workforce can help keep your employees safe, ensure you adhere to training and other mandates and offer cost-effective legal expertise when and if you need it.

Improve your workplace safety & compliance management. Save time and money, gain peace of mind and demonstrate a measurable commitment to the well-being of your employees.

Arcoro’s approach to safety & compliance seamlessly integrates the expertise and offerings of our partners for construction and workplace training, safety management and HR legal compliance.

We offer three tiered packages of comprehensive services to meet your business and pricing needs.

- Deliver and track top-rated industry and workplace courses, including OSHA
